

“Ménage à trois anyone?” Intro.

Sorry to disappoint, but Alan Adams¹ has never been in a consummated ménage à trois, not yet anyway. There were, however, three times where I was damn close. The first time², with these two rising high school juniors, took place half way through the summer after my senior year at El Camino³. They were best friends, I had been seeing the both of them for a couple weeks (they of course knew), and they were ‘down for the get down’⁴; I called the whole thing off though—something like that would have totally fucked their friendship⁵...I’m cool like that. The second time⁶, well, it’s kinda complicated, but I got some ‘interference’⁷ ran against me as I was about to score with these two senior ‘bitches’⁸ at an ‘Arcon’⁹ party. They were drunk, I was drunk, they were roommates, I loosely went to the party with this chick I was fooling around with at the time, the ladies were ‘good to go’¹⁰ (they said as much), but the chick I came with wasn’t getting any love at the party so she decided to spoil mine...sometimes it goes down like that. The third time¹¹ I had a couple ladies I just met over to my room the first semester of my senior year of college and things just kinda never happened. They were good ¹Don’t you just hate when people refer to themselves in the ‘3rd person’?

⁴If someone is ‘down for the get down’, that means they are ‘ready’ to ‘do the nasty’; or, more bluntly, they’re ‘ready to fuck’.

⁵It never looks good to have ‘bitches’ fighting over yo’ ass, that is of course unless they are both ‘hot bitches’ and are both wearing (barely wearing) some skimpy-ass attire of some sort...now that would be cool.

⁷‘Cock-blocking’, ‘CBing’, or ‘pulling a Brad’, is the act of ‘actively interfering’ with ‘someone else’s’ ass gettin’ process...or, put otherwise, ‘being an intentional fifth wheel.’

‘Interference’ is another word for ‘cock-blocking’.

⁸‘Bitches’ is ‘ghetto-slang’ used as a ‘generic’, ‘not (necessarily) derogatory’ way of ‘referring to, or about, a woman’. IN THIS BOOK, THIS TERM IS IN NO WAY INTENDED TO OFFEND PERSONS OF THE FEMALE PERSUASION.

⁹The Arcons’ are a coed, ‘fraternity-like’, organization on the Kenyon College campus. Their housing is dispersed over the top 2 stories of Hanna Hall—the left arm of the ‘senior quad’ (located on the south end of campus).

¹⁰‘Good to go’ quite literally means “good to go”, or in other words it is ‘the state’ of being ‘down for the get down’.

friends, we talked around about 'hooking it up'¹², 'chilled'¹³ for a little over two hours together in my twin sized bed...and it just never started.

¹²'Hooking it up', 'getting ass', 'hitting that', 'hitting that shit', 'knocking boots', 'knocking it', 'performing the Humpty Dumpty', and 'doing the nasty' are all ways of describing the 'events leading up to' or the 'physical act of' engaging in 'sexual relations'.

¹³'Chilling' is the same as 'hanging', it means 'relaxing' and 'taking a load off', possibly including a little "recreational weed 'toking' (often) amongst friends"
